

Moulin

By Jean Paul

Moulin vodka is handcrafted in the town of Angouleme, at the heart of Charente region, in the South of France. This historic setting is home to a spirit making dynasty that stretches back over seven generations, a place where tradition and innovation share equal footing. Award winning Master Distiller Jean-Marc Daucourt created Moulin as a tribute to his grandfather, Jean-Paul, who passed down his passion for making and innovating wine and spirits, to his grandson. The most important element that goes into making Moulin Vodka is the high quality French Wheat. Harvested from the plaine de la Beauce region of northwestern France (the most fertile area for cereal production), the wheat has a distinct flavour profile due to the nutrient rich soil in which it grows. Moulin Vodka uses only the finest water sourced from the Pyrenees Mountains. Filtered naturally through limestone underground, the water is cleansed of many negative minerals, nitrates, and salts, which only inhibits its pure taste. To create a spirit as pure and smooth as Moulin Jean-Marc employs a Three-Stage Technique to ensure perfection in every bottle produced. This technique involves: Distilling The Vodka Seven Times to achieve the desired level of purity Being Aerated With A Flow Of Oxygen, going from the bottom to the top of the vat, releasing the bad esters and eliminating any impurities. Lastly, the vodka is Charcoal Filtered to maximize the spirit's refinement.
