On the nose, the juniper is restrained, relegated to the background while notes of cedar wood, butterscotch, and honeysuckle take over. There's also a sharp, acidic edge to the aroma, something that's tough to identify but can be described best as a lingering floral character that's mingled with crushed red berries. The body is more juniper-forward than all that would imply, but there's a lot more going on here as well than simple botanical notes and wood. On the palate you get a rush of evergreen that is chased by a wild collection of notes that include forest floor, orange peel, cream soda. There's a whole lot going on, but finding a balance in all of this is elusive to the point where the spirit ultimately becomes confusing.

Perfect Serve:

In an old-school classic gin Aviation cocktail. It's blue as the sky. Mix it 2 oz Gin, 0,5 Maraschino liqueur, 0,25 oz Crème de violette or Crème Yvette, 0,75 oz Lemon juice.

Signature Drink:

Barrel Aged Negroni

- 1 oz Bluecoat Barrel Finished Gin
- 1 oz Sweet Vermouth

- 1 oz choice of Campari or Aperol

Add ingredients into mixing glass filled with ice, and stir to chill ingredients. Pour into a Rocks glass with fresh ice. Garnish with an expressed orange zest.
